

Tom McMacken press release announcing his candidacy for Winter Park City Commission:

"The newly adopted Comprehensive Plan is a perfect example of a community wide effort to preserve the hometown feel and character of Winter Park. Residents need to feel assured that the standards this document sets forth will be honored by all those charged with implementing it. My greatest priority will be to stand behind this plan and administer its articles fairly to all."